

DALLAS THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

15 December 2014

To: Whom it may concern
Re: Jamie Wilkins

I am pleased to write this letter in support of Ms. Jamie Wilkins. I have known Ms Wilkins for a number of years as a student at Dallas Theological Seminary. She is a delightful individual who works hard at whatever she sets out to accomplish. She always performed well in classes and has contributed valuable questions and comments which enhanced the classroom experience for all involved.

Ms Wilkins has demonstrated the ability to be able to persevere through difficult times. She has completed a very difficult Master's program while juggling a number of other responsibilities and overcoming various obstacles. I suspect that most would have given up in such circumstances. Ms Wilkins has done it with a positive attitude.

One of Ms Wilkins' strengths is her creativity. She is not afraid to think outside the box and meet challenges in ways that the particular task demands. Additionally, she engages in her tasks with a contagious enthusiasm that demonstrates her love and commitment to her work.

Ms Wilkins has only exhibited strong character in all my dealings with her. Her devotion to the Lord, her family, and others is clearly evident. She is very encouraging and gets along well with everyone.

I am confident that Ms Wilkins will be successful in whatever she commits herself to doing. I look forward to what she will accomplish in the future. I am happy to provide further information if required. Feel free to contact me anytime.

Sincerely,

Dr Joseph D. Fantin
Associate Professor, New Testament
Dallas Theological Seminary
(214) 887-5304
JFantin@dts.edu