To Whom It May Concern:

Jamie Wilkins has been a joy to have working for our company. Her time with us began in the fall of 2007, in our Vermont location. Since then, she has joined us at our Dallas location. She has taken on the role of Production Supervisor and Trainer during her time with us at this new location. Her ability to work for us at both locations has allowed us to see and appreciate her potential.

She has played a key role in initiating much of the policy and procedure work needed for the inception of our Dallas location. She is willing and able to complete tasks that require complicated solutions with competency and creativity. Jamie's ability to train and assist others in their work has been an asset to the growth of our company.

We are glad to have been a part of her time in graduate school and wish her the best as she pursues the remaining portion of her degree. It will be difficult to replace her and her self-starting and problem solving nature. You would do well to include Jamie in your endeavors if so desired.

Sincerely,

Chris Marotti
